What Are the Risks

All Funds are subject to market or currency fluctuations and to the risks inherent in all investments. Therefore, no assurance can be given that the invested capital will be preserved, or that capital appreciation will occur. Since this fund tends to have significant holdings in smaller-and middle-capitalization stocks, the fundamental risk is that stock prices of small and mid-sized companies can perform differently than larger, more recognized, companies and have the potential to be more volatile. Other considerations of investing in this fund include frontier markets, emerging markets, foreign currency, economic and political risks. Please consult the Prospectus for a full discussion of these risks.
